Main Street Character Parade 11:30am

Fiddles, mandolins, and lush vocal harmonies let you know that Sheamus and Company have taken the stage. Performing American classics, Sheamus and Company transports the audience back in time, blending musicianship, creativity, and tradition. Over the past year, the group has performed at bars, breweries, soundstages, and livestreams as they continue to build and refine their repertoire of fan-favorite songs and classic grooves. 10:00am Beer Garden

The Whelks are a trio of upright bass, violin, guitar and three voices harmonizing on classic bluegrass, western swing, country, folk, and their own songs. 12:00 Noon Stage A

Newport Ave. has seen many lineup changes since they formed in Douglas nine years ago, though Luke Daly and Dustin Romeiro make up their core as duo singers and guitarists. Currently the acoustic act can be heard covering a variety of artists from Tom Petty to Post Malone in a variety of bars and restaurants around Worcester County and beyond. Keep an eye out as they are currently writing their second original album following their 2020 release "Sink or Swim". 10:30am Stage B

The XTet is a jazz ensemble from Providence, RI, playing a mix of 50's American standards, 60's shard bop classics, and 70s fusion favorites with a contemporary twist in the vein of Miles Davis, Grant Green, and Weather Report. 1:00-4:00PM Beer Garden

As a singer and songwriter, Ben Shaw digs into the uniqueness of American music. Having spent time studying and performing a range of music has given Shaw access to wide array of textures and styles, but with a sound that remains firmly planted in the singer/songwriter tradition. 1:00pm-1:45pm Stage A

Based out of Worcester, Renee Lamy has been paving her way in the music scene. Renee's sound can be described as a mix of the pop edge of Julia Michaels and the acoustic flow of Ed Sheeran. 12:00 Noon Stage B

Kayla Drew is a singer and a songwriter that released her first album "Blessed" in January of this year. She has been singing ever since she could remember and picked up the guitar at age 13. Writing songs is her passion and she loves sharing them with others. 9:45am Stage A
